

KEEP YOUR RECEIPTS

Organizing and tracking your finances isn't a weekend chore; it's a lifelong change. Luckily, it takes just a few moments a week if you keep your daily receipts in one place.

We've included an envelope for storing receipts, and you can decorate it with images of your financial goal. Just tack the envelope somewhere convenient, maybe near your keys or on your refrigerator.

-  If you don't get a receipt when you buy something, record the transaction yourself on a scrap of paper and drop it into the envelope.
-  For extra incentive to take your receipts out of your over-stuffed wallet every single day, here's a health tip: ergonomic specialists say that sitting on a large wallet often causes lower back pain.
